

TITANIC AQUATIC

Almost 100 years ago Titanic set sail on her maiden voyage. The grand ship was said to be “unsinkable,” but history would prove wrong as Titanic hit an iceberg and sunk to the bottom of the ocean. This elusive story has captured the hearts of millions and the story has been told time and again. The Georgia Aquarium is honored to have the new exhibit Titanic Aquatic.

Titanic Aquatic opened August 22 and has fascinated visitors alike. At this exhibit you will see authentic artifacts as well as participate in hands-on interactive experiences.

The Georgia Aquarium

is proud to have 190 artifacts that were recovered from the wreckage that ill-fated night in April 1912. 40 of the artifacts have never been seen before and will make their debut at this exhibit.

The exhibit will take visitors through interactive displays and high definition video presentations. Guests will see Titanic’s construction, maiden voyage, sinking and recovery of wreckage.
